DO YOU CHEAT YOUR DOCTOR?

THAT is exactly what you do if you have his prescriptions compounded elsewhere than at a pharmacy where quality is the first consideration. There is no half right in medicine; it is either right or wrong. If it is not exactly in accordance with the doctor's prescription it is wrong.

PRESCRIPTION COMPOUNDING

is our particular specialty. Only drugs of highest purity are ever used and all work is done by expert prescriptionists. Is the man who compounds your prescription as competent in his line as the doctor you employ? He should be.

HASKELL'S DEFENSE FIGHT MAY GO OF FIRST LEGIS- LATURE TO CONGRESS

RAILROAD SHOPS.
It was rumored that the railroads in order to coerce the state into letting them have their own way about rates and other things, were closing their repair shops in the state, and throwing hundreds of men out of employment, and hauling their cars and engines clear up to Illinois to get them repaired.

A little law on this subject was passed, that settled that question. The engines and cars used in this state shall be repaired in their shops in this state. A bluff won't work on Oklahoma. Thanks to Senators Redwine, Eggerman, Taylor and others.

REMOVAL OF CAUSES.

Foreign corporations if you want to do business in this state, and get into a law suit with our citizens, try your cases in the state courts; do not take them a hundred miles or more away from home to a Federal court where it would cost more than the claim involved to get there. Thanks to Representative McCall.

FENCE YOUR RAILROAD.

Where the land owner adjoining a railroad desires to fence his land on the other three sides, the law of Oklahoma now requires the railroad to fence its side with a good fence. Thanks to Hudson and Blair.

OIL ON SCHOOL LAND.

Year after year some of the school land in eastern Oklahoma Territory was surrounded by oil wells, and the oil pumped out from under the school land without the Territory getting a penny for it. In one case near Cleveland, Oklahoma, thirty-two thousand dollars bonus was offered for a lease on four hundred and eighty acres of school land, but the Territorial officers just folded their hands and said: "There ain't any law by which we can save this money for the people," but the new law of Oklahoma takes care of that question. Thanks to Senators Johnston and Agee.

NINE FOOT SHEETS.

They made a heap of fun out of the law requiring iron fire escapes on high hotel buildings, and nine foot sheets in sleeping cars and hotels, but both of these are very necessary and proper provisions of the law. Any traveling man can tell you that the nine foot sheet is the best sanitary measure possible in a state like ours, where fifty thousand strangers, sick with consumption, traveling back and forth from the north to the south, who occupy the sleeping cars and hotels, and breathe into the heavy blankets and comforters tucked around the mouth, and is constantly spreading disease germs to others who occupy the same bed. You can't tell when the blanket or comforter was last washed, but you can easily tell whether the sheet is clean, and fresh, and a nine foot sheet gives you a sufficient length to fold back over the edge of the blanket and protect yourself from any disease that might have been in the bed or berth the night before. Than' to Speaker Murray.

EIGHT HOUR DAY.

The constitution of Oklahoma fixed eight hours as a legal day's work on municipal, state or other public work and our legislature carried that provision into effect. If you want Oklahoma to grow and build up the right kind of people, don't forget that intelligent, prosperous, contented laboring classes will always be among the desirability of this law, and the best of our citizenship; hence, above all things, do not let your paving, side walk and other improvement contractors import a lot of foreign laborers to deprive the Oklahoma laboring men of their opportunity to work reasonable hours at living wages. Thanks to Senator Billups.

Died.

Speaker Summons Ex-Congressman

Charge of War Against So-Called Radical Proposals.

The plank on injunction that caused a split states: "We declare for such amendments to the statutes of procedure in the Federal courts, with respect to the use of the writ of injunction, as will, on the one hand, prevent the summary issue of such orders without proper consideration, and, on the other, will preserve undiminished the power of the courts to enforce their process to the end that justice may be done at all times and to all parties."

Chicago, Ill., June 16.—As this is being written the momentous matter of determining how much Rooseveltism shall be engrafted on republicanism is being considered. Subcommittees of the committee on platform are discussing the various subjects referred to them. It may be that some of these subcommittees will finish

JUDGE ROBERT L. WILLIAMS
For Congress, 4th District—
HON. CHAS. D. CARTER.

For State Corporation Commissioner—

For State Representative—
HON. FRANK HUDDLESTON.

Features of Republican National Plat-
form.

Congratulations to the nation that it has managed to retain the reins of
government consecutively, adula-
tion, openly expressed for the personality of Roosevelt, and praise of
his administration for regulating
rates and abolishing rebates.

A brief but glowing outline of the
glories yet to be achieved by future
republican administrations and
pledges vehemently made to continue
in the path blazed through the civic

wilderness by Roosevelt.

To the Deity is accorded gratitude
for having so bountifully provided
for the material wants of the United States, and that during republican
reign, and immediately credit is taken for laws that make life worth living.

Declaring "unequivocally for a revision of the tariff," the platform
amiably suggests that it be postponed
until after the inauguration of the next president, and in a lengthy discussion of the question, involving
a very complex sentence, declares
that "the benefits that follow are
best secured by the establishment of
maximum and minimum rates to be administered by the president under
limitations fixed by law."

After arraigning the democratic party on the solemn charge that its
representatives had the temerity to oppose and obstruct legislation in the last congressional session by fillbustering tactics, in which no mention is made of prominent republicans aiding such protests, praise of the currency act is indulged, the Sherman anti-trust act cited, the
railroad rate law painted in glowing colors of justice, and a list of other
measures that have been placed upon the statute books cited, and the
platform proceeds to raise a verbal
monument to the eight-hour law,
after which solicitude for the safety,
liberty, freedom and general mental,
moral and physical well-being of all
farmers and wage earners is set forth
at length.

FIGHT MAY GO TO CONGRESS

their task tonight, but it is improb-
able that the whole committee will
be able to make a report until tomorrow afternoon.

The contest over the platform now
excites more interest among the delegates than any other matter before
the convention because they are beginning to appreciate that some
of the policies which President Roosevelt seeks to espouse commit the
party to principles radically at variance with those that have made up
its creed for fifty years.

It is upon the proposed anti-injunction plank that the chief attack is being made by the conservatives, or the allies. Speaker Cannon, who better than any one
else, typifies what the republican party was before the Roosevelt era
is directing the attack and he is
using the prestige and power of
the speakership to recruit his forces.
All those members of the house
who are delegates and who are either
amendable to his arguments or susceptible to his threats, have been
sent out by him to combat this proposition. Payne and Dalzell are his chief lieutenants, and it is reported
tonight that he has summoned ex-
Congressman Little field from New York, where he is now practicing law
to aid him.

The argument which the Speaker
and his lieutenants are making
against this proposed anti-injunction
plank is that it is a covert attack on
the courts and a pandering to the lawless elements of society. There are conflicting reports as to the complexion of the committee with respect to this proposition. Several polls have been made, but the results
are in no two cases the same.

It is noticeable that at least three
or four Taft delegations have put as
their representatives on the committee men who are opposed to this Roosevelt-Taft plank. This seems to have alarmed the Administration
forces, for at the last moment the Missouri delegation, acting under
White House orders, put Senator
Warner on the platform committee
instead of Attorney General Hadley
who had been slated for the place.
There was no suspicion of Hadley,
but more certainty was felt as to Warner.

The publication of the Administration platform in one or two papers
has greatly embarrassed some who were disposed to reject this anti-injunction plank. The argument is being made by friends of the administration that to reject it now after
the country knows in this positive
way that the president advocated it,
would have disastrous consequences.
It would enable the democrats they
say, to tell the laboring men that the republicans had formally rejected this
doctrine and to enable them to declare, further, that the party and President Roosevelt were in serious
disagreement on this important proposition. This argument appeals forcefully to some, but on the ultra conservatives, such as Cannon, it makes no impression. They declare their readiness to meet the issue squarely
and abide the consequences. Incidentally, however, they are cussing
the Administration forces, for having
made the platform public, which
they denounce as a trick, suggested
by the president to make an awkward situation for his opponents. If it was a trick, it had won some measure of success, for there are many who declare that to reject this proposition
after the country had learned that
the president wrote it conspicuously
in his model platform, would enable
the democrats to say that the republican party is no longer the party
of Roosevelt. It is because this argument is holding in line some
who otherwise might have been persuaded to desert, that Cannon and
his aides are accusing the president of having resorted to a low trick of politics.

By ROY NORTON

already stricken, without the need
thereof. In substance it stated that inasmuch as there would be no future
appropriations and consequently no
taxation for navies or fortifications,
vast reductions would automatically
be made in the expense of operating
the government. It was also announced that as the United States
had been presented with a new form
of transportation by its inventor, it
had set aside for him and his heirs
sufficient royalties to render them
financially independent, and that furthermore in the interest of perpetual
peace the secret of the radiophone
would be maintained inviolable.

The railways of the country would
be permitted to reorganize and continue as freight carriers until such
time as their rates were deemed exorbitant or their charters expired, the
government abrogating to itself all
passenger traffic within the confines
of its own continent, and declaring
itself a competitor for all ocean transportation under tariffs to be formulated. It ended by asserting that government ownership of aerial transportation was not adopted at the behest
of any political party, but solely that
the people might derive the benefit
and the nation maintain its invulner-
able power. Thus it was that the railways were still permitted to exist and
no hardship worked save in the readjustments of capitalization, which
losses fell mainly upon those who had accumulated vast fortunes by the very inflation which was now punc-tured.

As if to knit the world together in international harmony, the culmination came in a message addressed to all nations which was penned by the hand of the president himself. It was his proposal for the maintenance of
peace, and read as follows:

"By the grace of God it has been placed in possession of such power
that it could not only conquer the
world, but destroy the inhabitants of other nations. This has been fully demonstrated. It has no desire to utilize its strength unjustly, but purposes
to exert it for the benefit of all men.

"It considers territorial greed to be
the real impelling motive in nearly all international wars. Therefore it
requests all nations become signatory
to an agreement in perpetuity that under no circumstances shall there be
any invasion of the territory of one
country by another, and that all
boundary lines shall remain as now
established, except they be changed
by the mutual and amicable agreement of the adjoining powers to which
they belong.

Assistant Commissioner of State Board of Charities in Ada on Tour of Inspection.

H. Huson, assistant commissioner state board of charities under Miss Kate Bernard is in Ada on a tour of inspection.

He went through the jail and court house and says it is like most jails on the Indian Territory side of the state, entirely too small and inadequate. The sanitary condition was above the average and as good as could be made under the conditions existing. He was pleased with the way the prisoners were fed. Mr. Smith giving them the same as he has on his own table.

Mr. Huson says he found the best jails at Ardmore and Muskogee on the Indian Territory side. This of course can be accounted for on account of these being built by the U. S. court while they held sway in this country. He left well pleased with conditions in Ada.

PLAY BALL.

The great game of baseball is now the center of attraction and everywhere is heard the merry crack of the bat as it meets the elusive sphere.

The pennant cannot be obtained by resting. The player who gets in the game to win, determined to conquer will come pretty near to landing the bunting of success that he is striving for.

Ignore the supposed odds against you, tackle the opposition good and hard. They all have vulnerable spots and you can reach them if you don't waste your ammunition.

Keep your eye on the ball your hope and determination upon the goal of bigger profits, plan your every move, watch every opening as though it meant victory and more order. Be the pitcher, the catcher and the whole team, its up to you to score before the ninth inning. The field of play, the diamond is your territory, says the umpire.

The two committees one for the 25,000 Club and the other the old Confederates met in the club rooms last night and discussed the coming reunion. It was decided to defer the matter of arrangement for a day or two on account of the Fourth of July Celebration. The old soldiers feel like the picnic the Fourth will in a way interfere with their reunion and as their date is fixed by their constitution it will be impossible to change it. Their committee will be on hand at the club rooms tonight to consult with the other committees for the picnic.

Mrs. R. O. Wheeler left this morning for Sulphur for a few days visit.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure it with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. ## YOUNG GIRL ARRESTED

Sheriff Smith Takes Her Into Custody for Alleged Theft of $90.

Yesterday Sheriff Tom Smith received a telephone message from Sheriff Johnson of Coal county to arrest a young girl who was on the Katy train charged with the theft of $90 from her uncle at Lehigh. Mr. Smith went to the train and made the arrest, and Sheriff Johnson will come on the afternoon train for her.

This girl has been living with her uncle for some time, and she claims she has been very badly treated and decided to leave home. When she was arrested she admitted taking the money and said she took it to get away from her uncle and aunt and try to get to her step mother in California. Her uncle who is in the feed business in Lehigh allows his wife to take in washing and the girl says she has had it all to do. She left home yesterday morning, walked to Coalgate, bought about $15.00 worth of clothes and came to Ada, expecting to return as will be shown by her round trip ticket. The girl has very few clothes, in fact what she has got are not fit to wear, and she is hardly to be blamed for taking the money for the purpose of supplying herself with clothes. Mr. Smith took her to his home and put her in the care of Mrs. Smith who kept her until the sheriff of Coal county came for her. It is indeed pitiful. She is only 17 years old and fairly intelligent. It is very evident she was intent on leaving her home for she says any kind of life is more preferable to the one she is living. Seventy-five dollars of the amount was recovered and about $15.00 worth of new clothing.

Meeting Tonight.

Don't fail to attend the services tonight at the First Baptist church. The attendance last night was better than the night before, and we had a fine service. Come tonight pray and expecting a blessing.

T. B. HARELL, Pastor.

If one feels dull and spiritless, in the spring or early summer, they call it "Spring Fever." But there is no fever—usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn-out nerves leave us languid, lifeless and without spirit or ambition. A few doses of Dr. Shoop's Restorative will absolutely and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative of course won't bring you back to full health in a day or two, but it will do enough in 48 hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that "tired spot." Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt general tonic. It gives more vim and more spirit to the spoonful than any other known nerve or constitutional tonic. It sharpens a failing appetite, aids digestion, frees sluggish livers and kidneys, and brings new life, strength and ambition. Test it a few days and be convinced.

G. M. RAMSEY.

Weak women should try Dr. Shoop's Night Cure. These soothing, healing, antiseptic suppositories go direct to the seat of those weaknesses. My "Book No. 4 for Women" contains many valuable hints to women and is free. Ask Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. to mail it. Ask the Doctor in strictest confidence, any questions you wish answered. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is sold by

OPENING GAME TOMORROW

The Sherman Team Will Arrive Tomorrow Morning for the Initial Game in the New Park.

Tomorrow will be base ball day in Ada. A message received this afternoon from the Sherman base ball team states they will arrive in Ada on the 10 o'clock Frisco to play Ada their first game in the new park. It was expected that Oklahoma City would come but the washouts on the railroads necessitated the postponement of their date. Mayor George Harrison will pitch the first ball over the plate in honor of the new park.

It will be ladies' day. All ladies invited and admission free to them. The band will be on hand. The procession will start at 3:15 from the Citizen's National bank and go right down Main street to the park. The Ada team has been strengthened by several new players and a good game is anticipated. Let all the Ada people turn out and give the boys a good start. Remember they have a grand stand. Now we will have a chance to get some good ball games if the citizens will patronize them.

At the Reservoir.

Down at the Damsite things are moving on. The emergency dam was taken out yesterday by the high waters and had to be rebuilt. It is completed and a much better one than the first one. Material is being hauled on the ground and the work in the new pier is only the work of a few days when it will be completed. There is at present a flow of water running through the flood gates that would fill the dam in a few days after the work is finished, which we feel sure will be next week.

SENATOR FROM NEW YORK

United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew of New York is perhaps more intimately known to the people than any other man, excepting those who have been elected president. Senator Depew, before his election to the senate in 1899, had represented the Vanderbilts in the huge financial affairs of that family for many years, and was president of the New York Central road for a long time.

M'KINLEY'S WATCH.

TIMEPIECE WORN WHEN HE WAS SHOT TREASURED BY NEPHEW.

Prominent Resident of Fort Worth, Tex., Falls Heir to Historic Relic —Is Magnificent Example of Goldsmith's Art.

Fort Worth, Tex.—It was discovered the other day that the heavy gold watch which was carried by President William McKinley when he was shot by the anarchist, Czolgosz, at Buffalo, is owned and in the possession of a Fort Worth man, a nephew of the victim of the assassin's bullet.

The nephew is A. J. Duncan, secretary and general manager of the Citizens' Light and Power company. He is a son of one of President McKinley's two sisters. His mother, Mrs. A. J. Duncan, was formerly Miss Sarah E. McKinley. She now lives at the family house in Cleveland, O., with the other sister. Both women are more than 70 years old.

It had long been the understanding in the McKinley and Duncan families that A. J. Duncan was to receive William McKinley's watch, as a cousin inherited the grandfather's timepiece, but none of the members of the two families had any idea under what tragic circumstances the watch would fall into Mr. Duncan's hands.

After the Buffalo tragedy and the subsequent death of President McKinley the watch was left in the possession of Mrs. McKinley until her death, more than a year ago. Then it was turned over to Mr. Duncan, as had been originally understood. The watch, until a few weeks ago, remained with Mr. Duncan's mother in Cleveland.

Shortly after his election to the presidency the first time Mr. McKinley had the watch specially made for him in Canton, O. While not a large watch, it is heavy, as it contains a large amount of gold decoration. The timepiece is open-faced, with gold numbers embossed on the face.

On the rear of the watch is the national emblem, an eagle supporting a shield bearing 13 stars. The figure is not engraved, but is embossed on the back of the watch. The whole watch is the result of careful and painstaking workmanship and is a magnificent example of the goldsmith's art. Attached to a beautifully rolled gold link chain is a black ivory seal with President McKinley's monogram.

Mr. Duncan is attached to the watch by many ties. Not only is it for him a family heirloom, but it is a relic of historic value. He keeps the watch carefully guarded.

All of President McKinley's personal effects are now in the possession of members of the Duncan family. Most of them are in their Cleveland and New York homes. The collection embraces the president's books, paintings, furniture, and everything which was intimately connected with his private life. In the course of time Mr. Duncan expects to have many of the books and art subjects brought to his Fort Worth home.

THREE-LEGGED COLT BORN.

Freak Foaled at Pittsfield Has Also Feet Like Deer's.

Pittsfield, Mass.—A three-legged colt, with hoofs like a deer, was born in the stable of Charles H. Prout.

The head and body are perfect, but the left front leg is missing. The single front leg is in the usual place on the right side. It is shaped like that of a deer. The rear legs are like those of a deer from the hock down and they have cloven hoofs. The feet at the ankles are turned upward and backward, so that it will be practically impossible for the animal to stand.

Mr. Prout was offered $200 by a traveling salesman for the freak, but refused. It was put on exhibition at the Prout stables and an admission of ten cents is being charged. All day people from all parts of the city go to the Prout stable.

JUNK MAN PUTS WIFE IN SHAFTS

SIGHT OF WOMAN HITCHED TO WAGON SHOCKS RESIDENTS OF EVANSTON, ILL.

TAKES PLACE OF DEAD HORSE

Frank Mulcaski Solves Dilemma by Harnessing Helpmeet to Vehicle —New "Steed" Needs Neither Hay Nor Oats.

Chicago.—Harnessing between the shafts of a wagon heavily laden with old iron, bottles and rags, Mrs. Frank Mulcaski, 55 years old, wife of an Evanston junk dealer, has taken up the task left off by the family horse at its death a few weeks ago.

Supplied with especially fitted harness, she has made it possible for her husband, who pleads that he was too poor to replace the dead horse, to continue in business.

Daily she draws the wagon through the streets of Evanston and Wilmette and its suburban territory, responding with alacrity to her husband's cries of "whoa" and "giddyap." "Gee" and "haw" have been added to the vocabulary with which she is addressed, indignant residents say. They are puzzled as to how to stop the spectacle.

Although Mrs. Mulcaski had been doing substitute duty for the horse for several weeks, general knowledge of the fact did not come to the residents of Evanston until the other day, when she appeared in one of the principle streets drawing the wagon, which was loaded half a ton of iron. Hereafter her efforts had been confined to the outskirts, where she astonished suburban residents and automobile parties.

During the journey through the downtown district of Evanston, her husband either walked near her or visited visited houses along the street in search of chance customers. He carried a whip which he formerly had employed in urging his horse along, but he was not seen to strike his wife with it.

Mulcaski's home is outside of the Evanston city limits. He occupies a

"Whoa!" The Junk Dealer Cried.

tumbledown cottage, scantily furnished.

When the horse became ill and died Mulcaski was in a dilemma. Without his wagon to haul the junk he could purchase, he was unable to make a living, and he had no money with which to replace the dead horse. Then the thought of harnessing his wife to the wagon occurred to him.

Efforts to use the same harness with which the horse had drawn so many loads over roads which were almost impassable proved unsuccessful until it was cut down. Straps were fitted about the shoulders of Mrs. Mulcaski, who weighs nearly 200 pounds, and the experiment was undertaken. She found that she could draw the wagon, even if it contained a moderate load.

Mulcaski kept to the outskirts of the town at first with his novel "steed," but lately he has been venturing more closely to the center of the city. The result was the general protest against the woman being allowed to draw the wagon.

That Mulcaski is doing a prosperous business is evidenced by the size of the load of junk which was in his wagon. Bottles, iron and rags were heaped into the vehicle far above the top.

"Whoa!" the junk dealer called out on one occasion, when he darted around to the rear of a house where a customer was waiting.

The wife drew the wagon up to the curbing, stopped and waited patiently until her husband appeared with a bundle of rags he had purchased.

At times Mulcaski was seen to consult with his wife concerning purchases he had made and routes to be taken. In addition, she was watchful for chance customers, pointing them out when her husband failed to notice them.

This was an advantage he did not enjoy when his horse was alive. Besides, he had to buy oats and hay, tie the animal up when he was to be absent for some time and even blanket it.

Some of those who have watched Mulcaski's movements assert that he does not always walk when his wife is drawing the wagon.

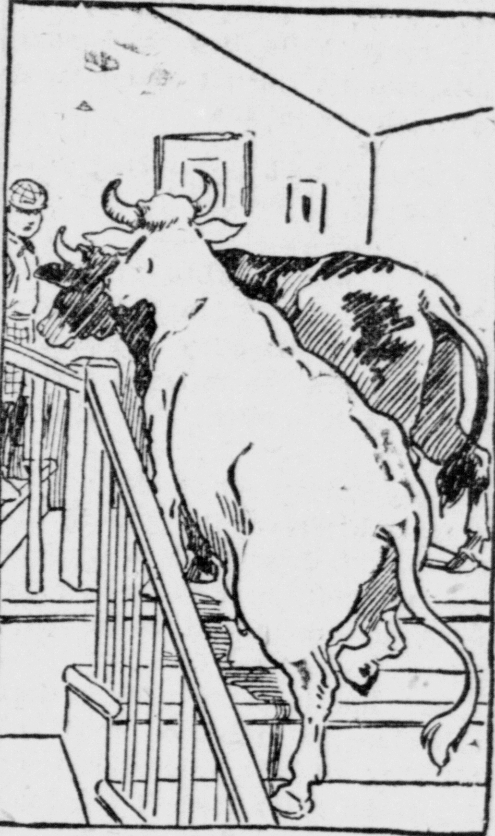

This, and many other stories, are told of the strange woman who has taken up the burden of the horse.

COWS PREFER PRIVATE HOUSE TO ABATTOIR

PAIR OF BOVINES, DESTINED FOR SLAUGHTER, AMBLE UPSTAIRS AT PATERSON, N. J.

New York.—An entire fire company, police reserves from one station, one cowman and many citizens with ropes figured in a ludicrous attempt to thwart the desire of two cows to occupy rooms at 552 Newark street, Paterson, N. J. The cows were of a herd which was driven into town from the vicinity of Secaucus.

The two mollies in question may have divined the fact that they were destined for a slaughter house, and unreasonably objected to being knocked on the head. So they ambled genially into the doorway of the Newark street house, and before the cowman could interfere, had climbed up to the first-story landing.

Children on the upper floors were about to descend and hurry to school, but they couldn't get downstairs.

The cowman, in desperation, appealed to a fire company across the way, and for half an hour frantic efforts were made to get the cows down without hurting them. But they wouldn't budge.

Police headquarters was then rung up, and reserves were hustled to the scene. Again, for more than an hour, the tussle continued. But the cows wouldn't listen to reason, nor would they move when jabbed and pushed.

Finally some one suggested that the animals be blindfolded and led. The police wrapped blankets around the creatures' heads, and as they—the cows, not the police—were afraid to go home in the dark, they went with great docility down the stairs and joined the herd.

They won't climb any more stairways, excepting in a butcher boy's basket, and in small pieces.

CHILDREN SOUGHT THE FAIRIES.

Discovered, Blue with Cold, on Edge of Swamp, After Two Days.

Baltimore, Md.—For two days and nights bands of neighbors searched the countryside for Frank and Emily, the two-year-old son and the four-year-old daughter of a farmer, Frank Emala, who toddled away from home to find the fairies. And the fairies had almost waited them away from earth forever when a man found the two little ones lying snugly and closely and unconscious on the edge of a water-filled swamp, almost within a stone's throw of their home.

The search began at noon on a recent Thursday, and by Friday morning the parents had given up all hope, but they still searched, and all Friday night, too, beating bushes, tramping the sunken swamp lands, calling the names of the two babies, all to no avail. Saturday, when all had given up hope and had joined the father and mother in lamenting the children, Harry Pielert, a trapper and fisherman, came upon them.

They lay with their arms around each other's necks. Emily's skirt was stretched across the bare legs of her little brother in a pathetic attempt to protect them from the icy water, and she had wrapped her small cotton waist about his neck so that he might not get "sore throat."

Both children still held little bouquets of arbutus in their hands. Pielert tucked them both under his arms and hurried to the house, less than a quarter of a mile away.

Doctors revived them after hours of working, for both were nearly dead of starvation and the freezing cold of the two nights they had been lost.

Hen Lays Two Eggs Daily.

Waterbury, Conn.—Judge Fred M. Peasley of the city court has a white Plymouth Rock pullet which has laid two eggs a day for eight days. The judge didn't believe it until by the trap test he proved the hen a dual egg producer.

The only other hen here that ever laid two eggs in one day was owned by Charles Graham. The hen died of brain fever, induced by an almost superhuman knowledge of things about her.

She charmed a blacksnake into a dope-like stupor and killed it, first dragging out its forked tongue.

WATER CUTS IMPORTANT FIGURE IN BASEBALL

Game Lost by Pittsburg as Result of a Flood—Cincinnati Field Twice Invaded.

The postponement record of the major leagues has been broken this spring on account of unprecedented rain and wet grounds. Perhaps never before have so many games been prevented as during this season, but there have been some that have been queerer.

A few years ago Pittsburg lost one of the oddest games on record on account of water. The game was played on a beautiful afternoon, but it happens that the Pittsburg grounds are situated just at the point where the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers flow together and form the Ohio. On this afternoon Pittsburg was playing Brooklyn and the rivers were all high. The Monongahela rose rapidly during the afternoon, forming a cross current and backing up the water of the Allegheny until it began to flood center field.

Inning by inning the outfielders were driven in closer and closer to the diamond as the flood invaded the ball park, until finally, in the ninth inning, a short fly ball to center field fell in two feet of water while the Pittsburg center fielder was diving and wading out toward it, and cost the game.

Cincinnati has twice had floods invade the grounds during the progress of games, but neither time has the water played any important part in the game, although one game was stopped in the seventh inning.

On that occasion the Ohio river had backed up around the grounds, but a dike had been built inside the fences to hold it back. The water had been rising steadily all afternoon and the workmen were striving desperately to build up earthworks and save the grounds.

Just at the end of the seventh inning a Chicago player, George Decker, hit a fly to left, and Burke, who was playing left, was waiting to catch the ball when the dike broke. Burke waited, caught the ball, and by that time the water, rushing in a tidal wave across the field, was above his ankles. He sprinted hard, got ahead of the water and fled over dry ground. Two minutes later the greater part of the field was under water and the game was called. Arthur Hofman, now the regular center fielder of the world's champions, once jumped a contract on account of a similar occurrence. Hofman then was playing with East St. Louis in the Trolley league, and he had a contract with the team whereby he was to receive eight dollars per game every time a game was scheduled, provided the game was not prevented by the weather.

One day East St. Louis was scheduled to play Belleville and the weather was perfect, the sun shining and the air warm. But the Mississippi river rose suddenly and flooded the grounds. Hofman demanded his eight dollars on the grounds that the weather did not prevent the game. The management refused to pay and Hofman jumped his contract and went to Alton.

Barrett Let Out by Beaneaters.

Jimmy Barrett has been given his unconditional release by the Boston Americans. Barrett was a wonderful outfielder until he broke his leg in a game at Detroit. Since then he has lost much of his speed. He was drawing big money from the Boston club, and as there were young outfielders with the team drawing less and performing better, Manager McGuire decided to let Barrett go. Jimmy will have no trouble hooking up with a class A league team.

Brush After Pitcher Raymond.

It is said in baseball circles that John T. Brush, owner of the New York National league team, has made an offer of $8,000 to the St. Louis club for the release of Raymond, a pitcher. It is said the St. Louis nine intends to dispose of the services of some of its pitchers, and New York has put in an early offer to obtain Raymond, if the St. Louis management will permit him to go.

BASEBALL PLODDERS BETTER THAN STARS

Willing and Winning Players Are in More Demand by Managers of To-Day.

"The more I see of star ball players," said an old fan, "the better I like the plodders."

There are two kinds of diamond artists, star ball players and winning ball players. Give me the latter any time. After a tough game is lost you usually hear the star ball player and his satellites, coming back from the grounds, singing at the tops of their voices.

"The winning ball player is sitting over in a corner without a word to say. As long as he gets his hits and fields cleanly, the star is satisfied. On the other hand, the plodder is out to win, and if his club is beaten then he wants to bite somebody's head off."

"On the field the plodder is working for every point and never overlooks a bet. All stars are not working for themselves alone, however. When you find a top-notch player who is out on the greensward working his legs off, then you will find a grand ball player, who is worth a lot of money to any team."

"Often you wonder why a player who has been doing good work, as far as batting and fielding averages are concerned, is traded or released to some other team. Few fans understand it, but the manager who lets him go does."

"Every winter one hears of many trades and the report gets out that this magnate and that one has been uncoined. As a matter of fact, the chances are both have been handed something, for it is a cinch that no manager will let a player out unless there is something the matter with him."

"But you never hear of a willing ball player cut loose, even if his batting or fielding is not as brilliant as some others. He is the man every manager is looking for and once they land him they never let go until his usefulness has gone."

NOTES OF THE MINORS

Pitcher Albert of the South Bend Central league team shut out Wheeling the other day without a hit. The first of the season.

Geyer, the Columbus pitcher, is a strong entry in the hard-luck stakes. His team has not scored a run behind him in the last 25 innings in which he worked.

Larry Schlafly, a former National, is playing sensational ball at second for the Toronto Eastern league team.

Pitcher Joe Harris, has been tinned by Jim McGuire. He goes to the three-time American association champion Columbus club.

Terre Haute of the Central league has released Catcher Campbell and Infielders Shields and Ellie. Campbell goes to Danville of the Eastern Illinois league.

The Louisville club has released Pitcher Willie Sudhoff and Catcher F. E. Holmes and has purchased Pitcher J. W. Durham from the Philadelphia Athletics club.

Cockfield, the infielder turned over by Detroit to Williamsport, is simply eating 'em alive in the Tri-State. He is batting close to the 400 mark and fielding his position well.

Billy Phyle, the Toronto outfielder, rapped out two home runs and a double against Jersey City the other day, which makes him the most imposing slugger in the Eastern. He has now four circuit clouts to his credit. Hitting for ten sacks in an afternoon is stepping along.

Monte Cross Is Suspended.

President J. D. O'Brien of the American association suspended Monte Cross, manager of the Kansas City team, for three days for umpire baiting, and fined Outfielder Neighbors $25 for refusing to obey the umpire's instructions and unnecessarily delaying the game. Both offenses were committed at Kansas City on May 15 against Umpire Kane.

DRIVEN MAD BY A SECRET

Suicide of Wisconsin Man Brings Out Peculiar Story.

Washburn, Wis.—Since the recent suicide of Andrew Smith, a Finlander, who ended his life a few weeks ago by putting a bullet through his head, a story has been going the rounds concerning him and his partner, named Erickson. It is said that some years ago Smith and Erickson came into possession of large sums of money which they buried out in the vicinity of Siskiwit lake, 22 miles from this city.

It is said that the money was taken away from persons who had stolen it from an express company at Duluth or Superior many years ago, and the knowledge of this hidden wealth had so preyed upon the minds of the two that both lost their reason. Andrew Erickson, one of the men, was adjudged insane on February 10, 1903, and was taken to the asylum at Oshkosh, and at the present time is in the asylum for chronic insane at Eau Claire. This is shown by the records of the county.

It is now said that Smith shot himself during a fit of insanity.

On the morning that Smith committed suicide he and a man named Borgan, from this city, had gone out to Siskiwit lake for the purpose of looking over some land upon which it was thought that there was mineral deposits. Shortly after the men arrived at the lake and just after the two had started out on their exploring trip Smith took his life.

It is now thought that Smith and the man were near the spot where the wealth was hidden and Smith, fearing that the money might be discovered before he could appropriate it secretly to his own use, became insane and took his life. The actions of Smith and Erickson were always mysterious in the extreme. There are a number of persons here that are so sure that the treasure is buried somewhere in the vicinity of the lake that a search for it will be made.

"TEDDY BEAR" FOR KAISER.

House of Hohenzollern and House of Roosevelt to Be Linked by Toy.

New York.—Henry Estricher, a wealthy importer of toys, will present the largest "Teddy bear" in the world to Emperor William. Thus Mr. Estricher, who sailed on the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria for Hamburg the other day, will forge a new link in the chain of German-American friendship and bring closer the house of Hohenzollern and the house of Roosevelt.

Germany was the original habitat of the toy bear. Mr. Estricher read in a German newspaper that the emperor was greatly pleased that in honor of the president the toy had been called the "Teddy bear" in this country. He felt that the emperor would be delighted over the gift.

Mr. Estricher said that every arrangement had been made for his reception by the emperor and for the presentation of the bear. The toy which he has sent ahead was made here. It is nine feet tall when it sits itself and its hide was woven from pure China silk. It was packed in a velvet-lined case.

HASKELL'S DEFENSE OF FIRST LEGIS- LATURE

RAILROAD SHOPS.

It was rumored that the railroads in order to coerce the state into letting them have their own way about rates and other things were closing their repair shops in the state and throwing hundreds of men out of employment and hauling their cars and engines clear up to Illinois to get them repaired.

A little law on this subject was passed that settled that question. The engines and cars used in this state shall be repaired in their shops in this state. A bluff won't work on Oklahoma. Thanks to Senators Red and Eggerman Taylor and others.

REMOVAL OF CAUSES.

Foreign corporations if you want to do business in this state and get into a law suit with our citizens try your cases in the state courts. Do not take them a hundred miles or more away from home to a federal court where it would cost more than the claim involved to get there. Thanks to Representative McCall.

FENCE YOUR RAILROAD.

Where the land owner adjoining a railroad desires to fence his land on the other three sides the law or Oklahoma now requires the railroad to fence its side with a good fence. Thanks to Hudson and Blair.

OIL ON SCHOOL LAND.

Year after year some of the school land in eastern Oklahoma Territory was surrounded by oil wells and the oil pumped out from under the school land without the territory getting a penny for it. In one case near Cleveland Oklahoma thirty two thousand dollars bonus was offered for a lease on four hundred and eighty acres of school land but the territorial officers just folded their hands and said there ain't any law by which we can save this money for the people but the new law of Oklahoma takes care of that question. Thanks to Senators Johnston and Agee.

NINE FOOT SHEETS.

They made a heap of fun out of the law requiring iron fire escapes on high hotel buildings and nine foot sheets in sleeping cars and hotels but both of these are very necessary and proper provisions of the law. Any traveling man can tell you that the nine foot sheet is the best sanitary measure possible in a state like ours where fifty thousand strangers sick with consumption traveling back and forth from the north to the south who occupy the sleeping cars and hotels and breathe into the heavy blankets and comforters, tucked around the mouth and are constantly spreading disease germs to others who occupy the same bed. You can't tell when the blanket or comforter was last washed but you can easily tell whether the sheet is clean and fresh and a nine foot sheet gives you a sufficient length to fold back over the edge of the blanket and protect yourself from any disease that might have been in the bed or berth the night before than to Speaker Murray.

FIGHT HOUR DAY.

The constitution of Oklahoma fixed eight hours as a legal day's work on municipal, state or other public work and our legislature carried that provision into effect. If you want Oklahoma to grow and build up the right kind of people don't forget that intelligent proportionate laboring classes will always be among the desirability of this law and the best of our citizenship. Hence above all things do not let your paving side walk and other improvement contractors import a lot of foreign laborers to deprive the Oklahoma laboring men of their opportunity to work reasonable hours at living wages. Thanks to Senator Billups.

Features of Republican National Plat-
form.

Congratulations to the nation that
it has managed to retain the reins of
government consecutively, adula-
tion, openly expressed for the personality of Roosevelt, and praise of
his administration for regulating
rates and abolishing rebates.

A brief but glowing outline of the
glories yet to be achieved by future
Republican administrations and
pledges vehemently made to continue
in the path blazed through the civic

wilderness by Roosevelt.

To the Deity is accorded gratitude
for having so bountifully provided
for the material wants of the United States and that during republican
reign, and immediately credit is taken
for laws that make life worth
living.

Declaring "unequivocally for a re-
vision of the tariff," the platform
unambiguously suggests that it be postponed
until after the inauguration of
the next president, and in a lengthy
discussion of the question, involving
a very complex sentence, declares
that "the benefits that follow are
best secured by the establishment of
maximum and minimum rates to be
administered by the president under
limitations fixed by law."

After arraighing the democratic party on the solemn charge that its
representatives had the temerity to
oppose and obstruct legislation in the last congressional session by fil-lustering tactics, in which no mention is made of prominent republicans aiding such protests, praise of
the currency act is indulged, the Sherman anti-trust act cited, the
railroad rate law painted in glowing colors of justice, and a list of other measures that have been placed upon the statute books cited, and the
platform proceeds to raise a verbal
monument to the eight-hour law,
after which solicitude for the safety,
liberty, freedom and general mental,
moral and physical well-being of all
farmers and wage earners is set forth
at length.

their task tonight, but it is impossible that the whole committee will be able to make a report until tomorrow afternoon.

The contest over the platform now
excites more interest among the delegates than any other matter before
the convention because they are
beginning to appreciate that some
of the policies which President Roosevelt seeks to espouse commit the
party to principles radically at variance with those that have made up
its creed for fifty years.

It is upon the proposed anti-injunction plank that the chief attack is being made by the conservatives, or the alphas. Speaker
Cannon, who better than any one
else, typifies what the republican
party was before the Roosevelt era
is directing the attack and he is
using the prestige and power of
the speakership to recruit his forces.
All those members of the house
who are delegates and who are either
amendable to his arguments or susceptible to his threats, have been
sent out by him to combat this proposition. Payne and Dalzell are his
chief lieutenants, and it is reported
tonight that he has summoned ex-
Congressman Little field from New York, where he is now practicing law
to aid him.

The argument which the Speaker
and his lieutenants are making
against this proposed anti-injunction
plank is that it is a covert attack on
the courts and a pandering to the
lawless elements of society. There
are conflicting reports as to the
complexion of the committee with
respect to this proposition. Several
polls have been made, but the results
are in no two cases the same.

It is noticeable that at least three
or four Taft delegations have put as
their representatives on the committee men who are opposed to this Roosevelt-Taft plank. This seems to have alarmed the Administration
forces, for at the last moment the Missouri delegation, acting under
White House orders, put Senator
Warner on the platform committee
instead of Attorney General Hadley
who had been slated for the place.
There was no suspicion of Hadley,
but more certainty was felt as to Warner.

The publication of the Administration platform in one or two papers
has greatly embarrassed some who
were disposed to reject this anti-injunction plank. The argument is being made by friends of the administration that to reject it now after
the country knows in this positive
way that the president advocated it,
would have disastrous consequences.
It would enable the democrats they
say, to tell the laboring men that the
republicans had formally rejected this
doctrine and to enable them to declare, further, that the party and
President Roosevelt were in serious
disagreement on this important proposition. This argument appeals force-
fully to some, but on the ultra conservatives, such as Cannon, it makes
no impression. They declare their
readiness to meet the issue squarely
and abide the consequences. Incidentally, however, they are cursing
the Administration forces, for having
made the platform public, which
they denounce as a trick, suggested
by the president to make an awkward
situation for his opponents. If it was
a trick, it had won some measure of
success, for there are many who de-
clare that to reject this proposition
after the country had learned that
the president wrote it conspicuously
in his model platform, would enable
the democrats to say that the republican party is no longer the party
of Roosevelt. It is because this
argument is holding in line some
who otherwise might have been persuaded to desert, that Cannon and
his aides are seeking the president
of having resorted to a low trick of
politics.

By ROY NORTON

already stricken, without the need
thereof. In substance it stated that
inasmuch as there would be no future
appropriations and consequently no
taxation for navies or fortifications,
vast reductions would automatically
be made in the expense of operating
the government. It was also announced that as the United States
had been presented with a new form
of transportation by its inventor, it
had set aside for him and his heirs
sufficient royalties to render them
financially independent, and that furthermore in the interest of perpetual
peace the secret of the radioplane
would be maintained inviolable.

The railways of the country would
be permitted to reorganize and continue as freight carriers until such
time as their rates were deemed exorbitant or their charters expired, the
government abrogating to itself all
passenger traffic within the confines
of its own continent, and declaring
itself a competitor for all ocean transportation under tariffs to be formulated. It ended by asserting that government ownership of aerial transportation was not adopted at the behest
of any political party, but solely that
the people might derive the benefit
and the nation maintain its invulner-
able power. Thus it was that the railways were still permitted to exist and
no hardship worked save in the read-
justments of capitalization, which
losses fell mainly upon those who had
accumulated vast fortunes by the very inflation which was now punctured.

As if to knit the world together in international harmony, the culmination
came in a message addressed to
all nations which was penned by the hand of the president himself. It was
his proposal for the maintenance of
peace, and read as follows:

"That war and its barbarisms may
for all time be done away with, the United States of America submits
that:

"By the grace of God it has been
placed in possession of such power
that it could not only conquer the
world, but destroy the inhabitants of
other nations. This has been fully demonstrated. It has no desire to utilize its strength unjustly, but purposes
to exert it for the benefit of all men.

"It considers territorial greed to be
the real impelling motive in nearly
all international wars. Therefore it
requests all nations become signatory
to an agreement in perpetuity that under no circumstances shall there be
any invasion of the territory of one
country by another, and that all
boundary lines shall remain as now
established, except they be changed
by the mutual and amicable agreement of the adjoining powers to which
they belong.

H. Huson, assistant commissioner state board of charities under Miss Kate Bernard is in Ada on a tour of inspection.

He went through the jail and court house and says it is like most jails on the Indian Territory side of the state, entirely too small and inadequate. The sanitary condition was above the average and as good as could be made under the conditions existing. He was pleased with the way the prisoners were fed. Mr. Smith giving them the same as he has on his own table.

Mr. Huson says he found the best jails at Ardmore and Muskogee on the Indian Territory side. This of course can be accounted for on account of these being built by the U. S. court while they held sway in this country. He left well pleased with conditions in Ada.

PLAY BALL.

The great game of baseball is now the center of attraction and everywhere is heard the merry crack of the bat as it meets the elusive sphere.

The pennant cannot be obtained by resting. The player who gets in the game to win, determined to conquer will come pretty near to landing the bunting of success that he is striving for.

Ignore the supposed odds against you, tackle the opposition good and hard. They all have vulnerable spots and you can reach them if you don't waste your ammunition.

Keep your eye on the ball your hope and determination upon the goal of bigger profits, plan your every move, watch every opening as though it meant victory and more order. Be the pitcher, the catcher and the whole team, its up to you to score before the ninth inning. The field of play, the diamond is your territory, says the umpire.

Mrs. R. O. Wheeler left this morning for Sulphur for a few days visit.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure it with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. ## YOUNG GIRL TAKES.

Sheriff Smith Takes Her Into Custody for Alleged Theft of $90.

Yesterday Sheriff Tom Smith received a telephone message from Sheriff Johnson of Coal county to arrest a young girl who was on the Katy train charged with the theft of $90 from her uncle at Lehigh. Mr. Smith went to the train and made the arrest, and Sheriff Johnson will come on the afternoon train for her.

This girl has been living with her uncle for some time, and she claims she has been very badly treated and decided to leave home. When she was arrested she admitted taking the money and said she took it to get away from her uncle and aunt and try to get to her step mother in California. Her uncle who is in the feed business in Lehigh allows his wife to take in washing and the girl says she has had it all to do. She left home yesterday morning, walked to Coalgate, bought about $15.00 worth of clothes and came to Ada, expecting to return as will be shown by her round trip ticket. The girl has very few clothes, in fact what she has got are not fit to wear, and she is hardly to be blamed for taking the money for the purpose of supplying herself with clothes. Mr. Smith took her to his home and put her in the care of Mrs. Smith who kept her until the sheriff of Coal county came for her. It is indeed pitiful. She is only 17 years old and fairly intelligent. It is very evident she was intent on leaving her home for she says any kind of life is more preferable to the one she is living. Seventy-five dollars of the amount was recovered and about $15.00 worth of new clothing.

Meeting Tonight.

Don't fail to attend the services tonight at the First Baptist church. The attendance last night was better than the night before, and we had a fine service. Come tonight pray and expecting a blessing.

T. B. HARRRELL, Pastor.

If one feels dull and spiritless, in the spring or early summer, they call it "Spring Fever". But there is no fever—usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn-out nerves leave us languid, lifeless and without spirit or ambition. A few doses of Dr. Shoop's Restorative will absolutely and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative of course won't bring you back to full health in a day or two, but it will do enough in 48 hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that "tired spot." Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt general tonic. It gives more vim and more spirit to the spoonful than any other known nerve or constitutional tonic. It sharpens a failing appetite, aids digestion, frees sluggish livers and kidneys, and brings new life, strength and ambition. Test it a few days and be convinced.

OPENING GAME TOMORROW

The Sherman Team Will Arrive Tomorrow Morning for the Initial Game in the New Park.

Tomorrow will be base ball day in Ada. A message received this afternoon from the Sherman base ball team states they will arrive in Ada on the 10 o'clock Frisco to play Ada their first game in the new park. It was expected that Oklahoma City would come but the washouts on the railroads necessitated the postponement of their date. Mayor George Harrison will pitch the first ball over the plate in honor of the new park.

It will be ladies' day. All ladies invited and admission free to them. The band will be on hand. The procession will start at 3:15 from the Citizen's National bank and go right down Main street to the park. The Ada team has been strengthened by several new players and a good game is anticipated. Let all the Ada people turn out and give the boys a good start. Remember they have a grand stand. Now we will have a chance to get some good ball games if the citizens will patronize them.

At the Reservoir.

Down at the Damsite things are moving on. The emergency dam was taken out yesterday by the high waters and had to be rebuilt. It is completed and a much better one than the first one. Material is being hauled on the ground and the work in a few days when it will be completed. There is at present a flow of water running through the flood gates that would fill the dam in a few days after the work is finished, which we feel sure will be next week.

United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew of New York is perhaps more intimately known to the people than any other man, excepting those who have been elected president. ## M'KINLEY'S WATCH.

TIMEPIECE WORN WHEN HE WAS SHOT TREASURED BY NEPHEW.

Prominent Resident of Fort Worth, Tex., Falls Heir to Historic Relic —Is Magnificent Example of Goldsmith's Art.

Fort Worth, Tex.—It was discovered the other day that the heavy gold watch which was carried by President William McKinley when he was shot by the anarchist, Czolgosz, at Buffalo, is owned and in the possession of a Fort Worth man, a nephew of the victim of the assassin's bullet.

The nephew is A. J. Duncan, secretary and general manager of the Citizens' Light and Power company. He is a son of one of President McKinley's two sisters. His mother, Mrs. A. J. Duncan, was formerly Miss Sarah E. McKinley. She now lives at the family house in Cleveland, O., with the other sister. Both women are more than 70 years old.

It had long been the understanding in the McKinley and Duncan families that A. J. Duncan was to receive William McKinley's watch, as a cousin inherited the grandfather's timepiece, but none of the members of the two families had any idea under what tragic circumstances the watch would fall into Mr. Duncan's hands.

After the Buffalo tragedy and the subsequent death of President McKinley the watch was left in the possession of Mrs. McKinley until her death, more than a year ago. Then it was turned over to Mr. Duncan, as had been originally understood. The watch, until a few weeks ago, remained with Mr. Duncan's mother in Cleveland.

Shortly after his election to the presidency the first time Mr. McKinley had the watch specially made for him in Canton, O. While not a large watch, it is heavy, as it contains a large amount of gold decoration. The timepiece is open-faced, with gold numbers embossed on the face.

On the rear of the watch is the national emblem, an eagle supporting a shield bearing 13 stars. The figure is not engraved, but is embossed on the back of the watch. The whole watch is the result of careful and painstaking workmanship and is a magnificent example of the goldsmith's art. Attached to a beautifully rolled gold link chain is a black ivory seal with President McKinley's monogram.

Mr. Duncan is attached to the watch by many ties. Not only is it for him a family heirloom, but it is a relic of historic value. He keeps the watch carefully guarded.

All of President McKinley's personal effects are now in the possession of members of the Duncan family. Most of them are in their Cleveland and New York homes. The collection embraces the president's books, paintings, furniture, and everything which was intimately connected with his private life. In the course of time Mr. Duncan expects to have many of the books and art subjects brought to his Fort Worth home.

THREE-LEGGED COLT BORN. Freak Foaled at Pittsfield Has Also Feet Like Deer's.

Pittsfield, Mass.—A three-legged colt, with hoofs like a deer, was born in the stable of Charles H. Prout.

The head and body are perfect, but the left front leg is missing. The single front leg is in the usual place on the right side. It is shaped like that of a deer. The rear legs are like those of a deer from the hock down and they have cloven hoofs. The feet at the ankles are turned upward and backward, so that it will be practically impossible for the animal to stand.

Mr. Prout was offered $200 by a traveling salesman for the freak, but refused. It was put on exhibition at the Prout stables and an admission of ten cents is being charged. All day people from all parts of the city go to the Prout stable.

JUNK MAN PUTS WIFE IN SHAFTS

SIGHT OF WOMAN HITCHED TO WAGON SHOCKS RESIDENTS OF EVANSTON, ILL.

TAKES PLACE OF DEAD HORSE

Frank Mulcaski Solves Dilemma by Harnessing Helpmeet to Vehicle —New "Steed" Needs Neither Hay Nor Oats.

Chicago.—Harnessing between the shafts of a wagon heavily laden with old iron, bottles and rags, Mrs. Frank Mulcaski, 55 years old, wife of an Evanston junk dealer, has taken up the task left off by the family horse at its death a few weeks ago.

Supplied with especially fitted harness, she has made it possible for her husband, who pleads that he was too poor to replace the dead horse, to continue in business.

Daily she draws the wagon through the streets of Evanston and Wilmette and its suburban territory, responding with alacrity to her husband's cries of "whoa" and "giddyap." "Gee" and "haw" have been added to the vocabulary with which she is addressed, indignant residents say. They are puzzled as to how to ston the spectacle.

Although Mrs. Mulcaski had been doing substitute duty for the horse for several weeks, general knowledge of the fact did not come to the residents of Evanston until the other day, when she appeared in one of the principal streets drawing the wagon, which was loaded half a ton of iron. Hereafter her efforts had been confined to the outskirts, where she astonished suburban residents and automobile parties.

During the journey through the downtown district of Evanston, her husband either walked near her or visited visited houses along the street in search of chance customers. He carried a whip which he formerly had employed in urging his horse along, but he was not seen to strike his wife with it.

Mulcaski's home is outside of the Evanston city limits. He occupies a

"Whoa!" The Junk Dealer Cried.

tumbledown cottage, scantily furnished.

When the horse became ill and died Mulcaski was in a dilemma. Without his wagon to haul the junk he could purchase, he was unable to make a living, and he had no money with which to replace the dead horse. Then the thought of harnessing his wife to the wagon occurred to him.

Efforts to use the same harness with which the horse had drawn so many loads over roads which were almost impassable proved unsuccessful until it was cut down. Straps were fitted about the shoulders of Mrs. Mulcaski, who weighs nearly 200 pounds, and the experiment was undertaken. She found that she could draw the wagon, even if it contained a moderate load.

Mulcaski kept to the outskirts of the town at first with his novel "steed," but lately he has been venturing more closely to the center of the city. The result was the general protest against the woman being allowed to draw the wagon.

That Mulcaski is doing a prosperous business is evidenced by the size of the load of junk which was in his wagon. Bottles, iron and rags were heaped into the vehicle far above the top.

"Whoa!" the junk dealer called out on one occasion, when he darted around to the rear of a house where a customer was waiting.

The wife drew the wagon up to the curbing, stopped and waited patiently until her husband appeared with a bundle of rags he had purchased.

At times Mulcaski was seen to consult with his wife concerning purchases he had made and routes to be taken. In addition, she was watchful for chance customers, pointing them out when her husband failed to notice them.

This was an advantage he did not enjoy when his horse was alive. Besides, he had to buy oats and hay, tie the animal up when he was to be absent for some time and even blanket it.

Some of those who have watched Mulcaski's movements assert that he does not always walk when his wife is drawing the wagon.

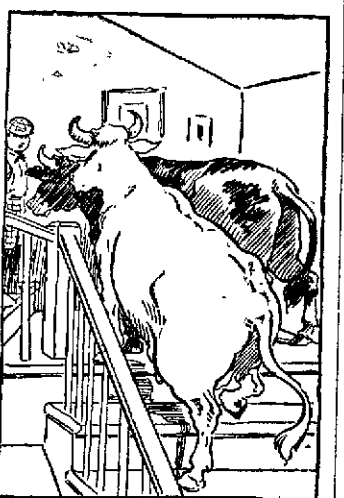

This, and many other stories, are told of the strange woman who has taken up the burden of the horse.

COWS PREFER PRIVATE HOUSE TO ABATTOIR

PAIR OF BOVINES, DESTINED FOR SLAUGHTER, AMBLE UPSTAIRS AT PATERSON, N. J.

New York.—An entire fire company, police reserves from one station, one cowman and many citizens with ropes figured in a ludicrous attempt to thwart the desire of two cows to occupy rooms at 552 Newark street, Paterson, N. J. The cows were of a herd which was driven into town from the vicinity of Secaucus.

The two mollies in question may have divined the fact that they were destined for a slaughter house, and unreasonably objected to being knocked on the head. So they ambled genially into the doorway of the Newark street house, and before the cowman could interfere, had climbed up to the first-story landing.

Children on the upper floors were about to descend and hurry to school, but they couldn't get downstairs.

The cowman, in desperation, appealed to a fire company across the way, and for half an hour frantic efforts were made to get the cows down without hurting them. But they wouldn't budge.

Police headquarters was then rung up, and reserves were hustled to the scene. Again, for more than an hour, the tussle continued. But the cows wouldn't listen to reason, nor would they move when jabbed and pushed.

Finally some one suggested that the animals be blindfolded and led. The police wrapped blankets around the creatures' heads, and as they—the cows, not the police—were afraid to go home in the dark, they went with great docility down the stairs and joined the herd.

They won't climb any more stairways, excepting in a butcher boy's basket, and in small pieces.

CHILDREN SOUGHT THE FAIRIES.

Discovered, Blue with Cold, on Edge of Swamp, After Two Days.

Baltimore, Md.—For two days and nights bands of neighbors searched the countryside for Frank and Emily, the two-year-old son and the four-year-old daughter of a farmer, Frank Emda, who toddled away from home to find the fairies. And the fairies had almost waited them away from earth forever when a man found the two little ones lying snuggled closely and unconscious on the edge of a water-filled swamp, almost within a stone's throw of their home.

The search began at noon on a recent Thursday, and by Friday morning the parents had given up all hope, but they still searched, and all Friday night, too, beating bushes, tramping the sunken swamp lands, calling the names of the two babies, all to no avail. Saturday, when all had given up hope and had joined the father and mother in lamenting the children, Harry Pielert, a trapper and fisherman, came upon them.

They lay with their arms around each other's necks. Emily's skirt was stretched across the bare legs of her little brother in a pathetic attempt to protect them from the icy water, and she had wrapped her small cotton waist about his neck so that he might not get "sore throat."

Both children still held little bouquets of arbutus in their hands. Pielert tucked them both under his arms, and hurried to the house, less than a quarter of a mile away.

Doctors revived them after hours of working, for both were nearly dead, of starvation and the freezing cold of the two nights they had been lost.

Hen Lays Two Eggs Daily.

Waterbury, Conn.—Judge Fred M. Peasley of the city court has a white Plymouth Rock pullet which has laid two eggs a day for eight days. The judge didn't believe it until by the trap test he proved the hen a dual egg producer.

The only other hen here that ever laid two eggs in one day was owned by Charles Graham. The hen died of brain fever, induced by an almost superhuman knowledge of things about her.

She charmed a blacksnake into a dope-like stupor and killed it, first dragging out its forked tongue.

WATER CUTS IMPORTANT FIGURE IN BASEBALL

Game Lost by Pittsburgh as Result of a Flood—Cincinnati Field Twice Invaded.

The postponement record of the major leagues has been broken this spring on account of unprecedented rain and wet grounds. Perhaps never before have so many games been prevented as during this season, but there have been some that have been queerer.

A few years ago Pittsburgh lost one of the oddest games on record on account of water. The game was played on a beautiful afternoon, but it happens that the Pittsburgh grounds are situated just at the point where the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers flow together and form the Ohio. On this afternoon Pittsburgh was playing Brooklyn and the rivers were all high. The Monongahela rose rapidly during the afternoon, forming a cross current and backing up the water of the Allegheny until it began to flood center field.

Inning by inning the outfielders were driven in closer and closer to the diamond as the flood invaded the ball park, until finally, in the ninth inning, a short fly ball to center field fell in two feet of water while the Pittsburgh center fielder was diving and wading out toward it, and cost the game.

Cincinnati has twice had floods invade the grounds during the progress of games, but neither time has the water played any important part in the game, although one game was stopped in the seventh inning.

On that occasion the Ohio river had backed up around the grounds, but a dike had been built inside the fences to hold it back. The water had been rising steadily all afternoon and the workmen were striving desperately to build up earthworks and save the grounds.

Just at the end of the seventh inning a Chicago player, George Decker, hit a fly to left, and Burke, who was playing left, was waiting to catch the ball when the dike broke. Burke waited, caught the ball, and by that time the water, rushing in a tidal wave across the field, was above his ankles. He sprinted hard, got ahead of the water and fled over dry ground. Two minutes later the greater part of the field was under water and the game was called. Arthur Hofman, now the regular center fielder of the world's champions, once jumped a contract on account of a similar occurrence. Hofman then was playing with East St. Louis in the Trolley league, and he had a contract with the team whereby he was to receive eight dollars per game every time a game was scheduled, provided the game was not prevented by the weather.

One day East St. Louis was scheduled to play Belleville and the weather was perfect, the sun shining and the air warm. But the Mississippi river rose suddenly and flooded the grounds. Hofman demanded his eight dollars on the grounds that the weather did not prevent the game. The management refused to pay and Hofman jumped his contract and went to Alton.

Barrett Let Out by Beansaters.

Jimmy Barrett has been given his unconditional release by the Boston Americans. Barrett was a wonderful outfielder until he broke his leg in a game at Detroit. Since then he has lost much of his speed. He was drawing big money from the Boston club, and as there were young outfielders with the team drawing less and performing better, Manager McGuire decided to let Barrett go. Jimmy will have no trouble hooking up with a Class A league team.

Brush After Pitcher Raymond.

It is said in baseball circles that John T. Brush, owner of the New York National league team, has made an offer of $8,000 to the St. Louis club for the release of Raymond, a pitcher. It is said the St. Louis nine intends to dispose of the services of some of its pitchers, and New York has put in an early offer to obtain Raymond, if the St. Louis management will permit him to go.

BASEBALL PLODDERS BETTER THAN STARS

Willing and Winning Players Are in More Demand by Managers of To-Day.

"The more I see of star ball players," said an old fan, "the better I like the plodders."

"There are two kinds of diamond artists, star ball players and winning ball players. Give me the latter any time. After a tough game is lost you usually hear the star ball player and his satellites, coming back from the grounds, singing at the tops of their voices."

"The winning ball player is sitting over in a corner without a word to say. As long as he gets his hits and fields cleanly, the star is satisfied. On the other hand, the plodder is out to win, and if his club is beaten then he wants to bite somebody's head off."

"On the field the plodder is working for every point and never overlooks a bet. All stars are not working for themselves alone, however. When you find a top-notch player who is out on the greenward working his legs off, then you will find a grand ball player, who is worth a lot of money to any team."

"Often you wonder why a player who has been doing good work, as far as batting and fielding averages are concerned, is traded or released to some other team. Few fans understand it, but the manager who lets him go does."

"Every winter one hears of many trades and the report gets out that this magnate and that one has been lunched. As a matter of fact, the chances are both have been handed something, for it is a cinch that no manager will let a player out unless there is something the matter with him."

"But you never hear of a winning ball player cut loose, even if his batting or fielding is not as brilliant as some others. He is the man every manager is looking for and once they land him they never let go until his usefulness has gone."

NOTES OF THE MINORS

Pitcher Albert of the South Bend Central league team shut out Wheeling the other day without a hit. The first of the season.

Geyer, the Columbus pitcher, is a strong entry in the hard-luck stakes. His team has not scored a run behind him in the last 26 innings in which he worked.

Larry Schlaflly, a former National, is playing sensational ball at second for the Toronto Eastern league team. Pitcher Joe Harris, has been tinned by Jim McGuire. He goes to the Three-time American association champion Columbus club.

Terre Haute of the Central league has released Catcher Campbell and infielders Shields and Ellis. Campbell goes to Danville of the Eastern Illinois league.

The Louisville club has released Pitcher Willie Sudhoff and Catcher F. E. Holmes and has purchased Pitcher J. W. Durham from the Philadelphia Athletics club.

Cocuzzi, the infielder turned over by Detroit to Williamsport, is simply eating 'em alive in the Tri-State. He is batting close to the 400 mark and fielding his position well.

Billy Phyle, the Toronto outfielder, rapped out two home runs and a double against Jersey City the other day, which makes him the most important slugger in the Eastern. He has now four circuit clouts to his credit. Hitting for ten sacks in an afternoon is stepping along.

Monte Cross Is Suspended.

President J. D. O'Brien of the American association suspended Monte Cross, manager of the Kansas City team, for three days for umpire baiting, and fined Outfielder Neighbors $25 for refusing to obey the umpire's instructions and unnecessarily delaying the game. Both offenses were committed at Kansas City on May 15 against Umpire Kane.

RAILROAD SHOPS.

It was rumored that the railroads in order to coerce the state into letting them have their own way about rates and other things were closing their repair shops in the state and throwing hundreds of men out of employment and hauling their cars and engines clear up to Illinois to get them repaired.

A little law on this subject was passed that settled that question. The engines and cars used in this state shall be repaired in their shops in this state. A bluff won't work on Oklahoma. Thanks to Senators Redwine, Eggerman, Taylor and others.

REMOVAL OF CASES.

Foreign corporations if you want to do business in this state and get into a law suit with our citizens try your cases in the state courts. Do not take them a hundred miles or more away from home to a Federal court where it would cost more than the claim involved to get there. Thanks to Representative McCall.

FENCE YOUR RAILROAD.

Where the land owner adjoining a railroad desires to fence his land on the other three sides the law of Oklahoma now requires the railroad to fence its side with a good fence. Thanks to Hudson and Blair.

OIL ON SCHOOL LAND.

Year after year some of the school land in eastern Oklahoma Territory was surrounded by oil wells and the oil pumped out from under the school land without the territory getting a penny for it. In one case near Cleveland Oklahoma thirty two thousand dollars bonus was offered for a lease on four hundred and eighty acres of school land but the territorial officers just folded their hands and said there was no law by which we can save this money for the people but the new law of Oklahoma takes care of that question. Thanks to Senators Johnston and Agee.

NINE FOOT SHEETS.

They made a heap of fun out of the law requiring iron fire escapes on high hotel buildings and nine foot sheets in sleeping cars and hotels but both of these are very necessary and proper provisions of the law. Any traveling man can tell you that the nine foot sheet is the best sanitary measure possible in a state like ours where fifty thousand strangers sick with consumption traveling back and forth from the north to the south who occupy the sleeping cars and hotels and breathe into the heavy blankets and comforters tucked around the mouth and is constantly spreading disease germs to others who occupy the same bed. You can't tell when the blanket or comforter was last washed but you can easily tell whether the sheet is clean and fresh and a nine foot sheet gives you a sufficient length to fold back over the edge of the blanket and protect yourself from any disease that might have been in the bed or berth the night before. Thanks to Speaker Murray.

EIGHT HOUR DAY.

The constitution of Oklahoma fixed eight hours as a legal day's work on municipal, state or other public work and our legislature carried that provision into effect. It is our wish that Oklahoma to grow and build up the right kind of people don't forget that intelligent proportionate laboring classes will always be among the desiderata of this law and the best of our citizenship hence above all things do not let your paying side walk and other improvement contractors import a lot of foreign laborers to denude the Oklahoma laboring men of their opportunity to work reasonable hours at living wages. Thanks to Senator Billups.

Died.

Stanley Sawyer living four miles this side of Stonewall died of typhoid fever Monday. He was 21 years of age and prominently connected.

For United States Senator—
HON. TOM P. GORE.
For Justice of Supreme Court (2nd Dist.)
JUDGE ROBERT L. WILLIAMS
For Congress, 4th District—
HON. CHAS. D. CARTER.
For State Corporation Commissioner—
COL. A. P. WATSON.
For State Representative—
HON. FRANK HUDDLESTON.

Features of Republican National Plat-
form.

Congratulations to the nation that
it has managed to retain the reins of
government consecutively, adulation, openly expressed for the personality of Roosevelt, and praise of
his administration for regulating
rates and abolishing rebates.

A brief but glowing outline of the
glories yet to be achieved by future
Republican administrations and
pledges vehemently made to continue
in the path blazed through the civic

wilderness by Roosevelt.

To the Deity is accorded gratitude
for having so bountifully provided
for the material wants of the United States and that during republican
reign, and immediately credit is taken
for laws that make life worth
living.

Declaring "unequivocally for a re-
vision of the tariff," the platform
amiably suggests that it be postponed
until after the inauguration of
the next president, and in a lengthy
discussion of the question, involving
a very complex sentence, declares
that "the benefits that follow are
best secured by the establishment of
maximum and minimum rates to be
administered by the president under
limitations fixed by law."

After arraigning the democratic
party on the solemn charge that its
representatives had the temerity to
oppose and obstruct legislation in the last congressional session by flibustering tactics, in which no mention is made of prominent republicans aiding such protests, praise of
the currency act is indulged, the Sherman anti-trust act cited, the
railroad rate law painted in glowing
colors of justice, and a list of other
measures that have been placed
upon the statute books cited, and the
platform proceeds to raise a verbal
monument to the eight-hour law,
after which solicitude for the safety,
liberty, freedom and general mental,
moral and physical well-being of all
farmers and wage earners is set forth
at length.

their task tonight, but it is improb-
able that the whole committee will
be able to make a report until tomorrow afternoon.

The contest over the platform now
excites more interest among the delegates than any other matter before
the convention because they are
beginning to appreciate that some
of the policies which President Roosevelt seeks to espouse commit the
party to principles radically at variance with those that have made up
its creed for fifty years.

It is upon the proposed anti-injunction plank that the chief attack is being made by the conservatives, or the alphas. Speaker
Cannon, who better than any one
else, typifies what the republican
party was before the Roosevelt era
is directing the attack and he is
using the prestige and power of
the speakership to recruit his forces.
All those members of the house
who are delegates and who are either
amenable to his arguments or susceptible to his threats, have been
sent out by him to combat this proposition. Payne and Dazell are his chief lieutenants, and it is reported
tonight that he has summoned ex-
Congressman Littlefield from New York, where he is now practicing law
to aid him.

The argument which the Speaker
and his lieutenants are making
against this proposed anti-injunction
plank is that it is a covert attack on
the courts and a paandering to the lawless elements of society. There
are conflicting reports as to the
complexion of the committee with
respect to this proposition. Several
polls have been made, but the results
are in no two cases the same.

It is noticeable that at least three
or four Taft delegations have put as
their representatives on the committee men who are opposed to this Roosevelt-Taft plank. This seems to have alarmed the Administration
forces, for at the last moment the Missouri delegation, acting under
White House orders, put Senator
Warner on the platform committee
instead of Attorney General Hadley
who had been slated for the place.
There was no suspicion of Hadley,
but more certainty was felt as to Warner.

The publication of the Administration platform in one or two papers
has greatly embarrassed some who
were disposed to reject this anti-
injunction plank. The argument is being made by friends of the administration that to reject it now after
the country knows in this positive
way that the president advocated it,
would have disastrous consequences.
It would enable the democrats they
say, to tell the laboring men that the
republicans had formally rejected this
doctrine and to enable them to declare, further, that the party and
President Roosevelt were in serious
disagreement on this important proposition. This argument appeals force-
fully to some, but on the ultra conservatives, such as Cannon, it makes
no impression. They declare their readiness to meet the issue squarely
and abide the consequences. Incidentally, however, they are cursing the Administration forces, for having
made the platform public, which
they denounce as a trick, suggested
by the president to make an awkward
situation for his opponents. If it was
a trick, it had won some measure of
success, for there are many who de-
clare that to reject this proposition
after the country had learned that
the president wrote it conspicuously
in his model platform, would enable
the democrats to say that the republican party is no longer the party
of Roosevelt. It is because this argument is holding in line some
who otherwise might have been persuaded to desert, that Cannon and his allies are resorting to a low trick of politics.

By ROY NORTON

already stricken, without the need
thereof. In substance it stated that
inasmuch as there would be no future
appropriations and consequently no
taxation for navies or fortifications,
vast reductions would automatically
be made in the expense of operating
the government. It was also announced that as the United States
had been presented with a new form
of transportation by its inventor, it
had set aside for him and his heirs
sufficient royalties to render them
financially independent, and that furthermore in the interest of perpetual
peace the secret of the radiophone
would be maintained inviolable.

The railways of the country would
be permitted to reorganize and continue as freight carriers until such
time as their rates were deemed exorbitant or their charters expired, the
government abrogating to itself all
passenger traffic within the confines
of its own continent, and declaring
itself a competitor for all ocean transportation under tariffs to be formulated. It ended by asserting that government ownership of aerial transportation was not adopted at the behest
of any political party, but solely that
the people might derive the benefit
and the nation maintain its invulner-
able power. Thus it was that the railways were still permitted to exist and
no hardship worked save in the read-
justments of capitalization, which
losses fell mainly upon those who had
accumulated vast fortunes by the
very inflation which was now pun-
ctured.

As if to knit the world together in
international harmony, the culmination
came in a message addressed to
all nations which was penned by the hand of the president himself. It was
his proposal for the maintenance of
peace, and read as follows:

"That war and its barbarisms may
for all time be done away with, the United States of America submits
that:

"By the grace of God it has been
placed in possession of such power
that it could not only conquer the
world, but destroy the inhabitants of
other nations. This has been fully demonstrated. It has no desire to utilize its strength unjustly, but purposes
to exert it for the benefit of all men.

"It considers territorial greed to be
the real impelling motive in nearly
all international wars. Therefore it
requests all nations become signatory
to an agreement in perpetuity that under no circumstances shall there be
any invasion of the territory of one
country by another, and that all
boundary lines shall remain as now
established, except they be changed
by the mutual and amicable agreement of the adjoining powers to which
they belong.

Assistant Commissioner of State Board of Charities in Ada on Tour of Inspection.

H. Huson, assistant commissioner state board of charities under Miss Kate Bernard is in Ada on a tour of inspection.

He went through the jail and court house and says it is like most jails on the Indian Territory side of the state, entirely too small and inadequate. The sanitary condition was above the average and as good as could be made under the conditions existing. He was pleased with the way the prisoners were fed. Mr. Smith giving them the same as he has on his own table.

Mr. Huson says he found the best jails at Ardmore and Muskogee on the Indian Territory side. This of course can be accounted for on account of these being built by the U. S. court while they held sway in this country. He left well pleased with conditions in Ada.

PLAY BALL.

The great game of baseball is now the center of attraction and everywhere is heard the merry crack of the bat as it meets the elusive sphere.

The pennant cannot be obtained by resting. The player who gets in the game to win, determined to conquer will come pretty near to landing the bunting of success that he is striving for.

Ignore the supposed odds against you, tackle the opposition good and hard. They all have vulnerable spots and you can reach them if you don't waste your ammunition.

Keep your eye on the ball your hope and determination upon the goal of bigger profits, plan your every move, watch every opening as though it meant victory and more order. Be the pitcher, the catcher and the whole team, its up to you to score before the ninth inning. The field of play, the diamond is your territory, says the umpire.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure it with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. ## YOUNG GIRL ARRESTED

Sheriff Smith Takes Her Into Custody for Alleged Theft of $80.

Yesterday Sheriff Tom Smith received a telephone message from Sheriff Johnson of Coal county to arrest a young girl who was on the Katy train charged with the theft of $80 from her uncle at Lehigh. Mr. Smith went to the train and made the arrest, and Sheriff Johnson will come on the afternoon train for her.

This girl has been living with her uncle for some time, and she claims she has been very badly treated and decided to leave home. When she was arrested she admitted taking the money and said she took it to get away from her uncle and aunt and try to get to her step mother in California. Her uncle who is in the feed business in Lehigh allows his wife to take in washing and the girl says she has had it all to do. She left home yesterday morning, walked to Coalgate, bought about $15.00 worth of clothes and came to Ada, expecting to return as will be shown by her round trip ticket. The girl has very few clothes, in fact what she has got are not fit to wear, and she is hardly to be blamed for taking the money for the purpose of supplying herself with clothes. Mr. Smith took her to his home and put her in the care of Mrs. Smith who kept her until the sheriff of Coal county came for her. It is indeed pitiful. She is only 17 years old and fairly intelligent. It is very evident she was intent on leaving her home for she says any kind of life is more preferable to the one she is living. Seventy-five dollars of the amount was recovered and about $15.00 worth of new clothing.

Don't fail to attend the services tonight at the First Baptist church. The attendance last night was better than the night before, and we had a fine service. Come tonight pray and expecting a blessing.

T. B. HARRELL, Pastor.

If one feels dull and spiritless, in the spring or early summer, they call it "Spring Fever". But there is no fever—usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn-out nerves leave us languid, lifeless and without spirit or ambition. A few doses of Dr. Shoop's Restorative will absolutely and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative of course won't bring you back to full health in a day or two, but it will do enough in 48 hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that "tired spot." Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt general tonic. It gives more vim and more spirit to the spoonful than any other known nerve or constitutional tonic. It sharpens a failing appetite, aids digestion, frees sluggish livers and kidneys, and brings new life, strength and ambition. Test it a few days and be convinced.

Weak women should try Dr. Shoop's Night Cure. These soothing, heating, antiseptic suppositories go direct to the seat of those weaknesses. ## OPENING GAME TOMORROW

The Sherman Team Will Arrive Tomorrow Morning for the Initial Game in the New Park.

Tomorrow will be base ball day in Ada. A message received this afternoon from the Sherman base ball team states they will arrive in Ada on the 10 o'clock Frisco to play Ada their first game in the new park. It was expected that Oklahoma City would come but the washouts on the railroads necessitated the postponement of their date. Mayor George Harrison will pitch the first ball over the plate in honor of the new park.

It will be ladies' day. All ladies invited and admission free to them. The band will be on hand. The procession will start at 3:15 from the Citizen's National bank and go right down Main street to the park. The Ada team has been strengthened by several new players and a good game is anticipated. Let all the Ada people turn out and give the boys a good start. Remember they have a grand stand. Now we will have a chance to get some good ball games if the citizens will patronize them.

At the Reservoir.

Down at the Damsite things are moving on. The emergency dam was taken out yesterday by the high waters and had to be rebuilt. It is completed and a much better one than the first one. Material is being hauled on the ground and the work in the new pier is only the work of a few days when it will be completed. There is at present a flow of water running through the flood gates that would fill the dam in a few days after the work is finished, which we feel sure will be next week.

SENATOR FROM NEW YORK

United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew of New York is perhaps more intimately known to the people than any other man, excepting those who have been elected president. Senator Depew, before his election to the senate in 1899, had represented the Vanderbilt family in the financial affairs of that family for many years, and was president of the New York Central road for a long time.

M'KINLEY'S WATCH.

TIMEPIECE WORN WHEN HE WAS SHOT TREASURED BY NEPHEW.

Prominent Resident of Fort Worth, Tex., Falls Heir to Historic Relic—Is Magnificent Example of Goldsmith's Art.

Fort Worth, Tex.—It was discovered the other day that the heavy gold watch which was carried by President William McKinley when he was shot by the anarchist, Czolgosz, at Buffalo, is owned and in the possession of a Fort Worth man, a nephew of the victim of the assassin's bullet.

The nephew is A. J. Duncan, secretary and general manager of the Citizens' Light and Power company. He is a son of one of President McKinley's two sisters. His mother, Mrs. A. J. Duncan, was formerly Miss Sarah E. McKinley. She now lives at the family house in Cleveland, O., with the other sister. Both women are more than 70 years old.

It had long been the understanding in the McKinley and Duncan families that A. J. Duncan was to receive William McKinley's watch as a cousin inherited the grandfather's timepiece, but none of the members of the two families had any idea under what tragic circumstances the watch would fall into Mr. Duncan's hands.

After the Buffalo tragedy and the subsequent death of President McKinley, the watch was left in the possession of Mrs. McKinley until her death, more than a year ago. Then it was turned over to Mr. Duncan, as had been originally understood. The watch, until a few weeks ago, remained with Mr. Duncan's mother in Cleveland.

Shortly after his election to the presidency the first time Mr. McKinley had the watch specially made for him in Canton, O. While not a large watch, it is heavy, as it contains a large amount of gold decoration. The timepiece is open-faced, with gold numbers embossed on the face.

On the rear of the watch is the national emblem, an eagle supporting a shield bearing 13 stars. The figure is not engraved, but is embossed on the back of the watch. The whole watch is the result of careful and painstaking workmanship and is a magnificent example of the goldsmith's art. Attached to a beautifully rolled gold link chain is a black ivory seal with President McKinley's monogram.

Mr. Duncan is attached to the watch by many ties. Not only is it for him a family heirloom, but it is a relic of historic value. He keeps the watch carefully guarded.

All of President McKinley's personal effects are now in the possession of members of the Duncan family. Most of them are in their Cleveland and New York homes. The collection embraces the president's books, paintings, furniture, and everything which was intimately connected with his private life. In the course of time Mr. Duncan expects to have many of the books and art subjects brought to his Fort Worth home.

THREE-LEGGED COLT BORN.

Freak Foaled at Pittsfield Has Also Feet Like Deer's.

Pittsfield, Mass.—A three-legged colt, with hoofs like a deer, was born in the stable of Charles H. Prout. The head and body are perfect, but the left front leg is missing. The single front leg is in the usual place on the right side. It is shaped like that of a deer. The rear legs are like those of a deer from the hock down and they have cloven hoofs. The feet at the ankles are turned upward and backward, so that it will be practically impossible for the animal to stand.

Mr. Prout was offered $200 by a traveling salesman for the freak, but refused. It was put on exhibition at the Cent Stables and an admission of ten cents is being charged. All day people from all parts of the city go to the Prout stable.

DRIVEN MAD BY A SECRET

Suicide of Wisconsin Man Brings Out Peculiar Story.

Washburn, Wis.—Since the recent suicide of Andrew Smith, a Finlander, who ended his life a few weeks ago by putting a bullet through his head, a story has been going the rounds concerning him and his partner, named Erickson. It is said that some years ago Smith and Erickson came into possession of large sums of money which they buried out in the vicinity of Siskiwit lake, 22 miles from this city.

It is said that the money was taken away from persons who had stolen it from an express company at Duluth or Superior many years ago, and the knowledge of this hidden wealth had so preyed upon the minds of the two that both lost their reason. Andrew Erickson, one of the men, was adjudged insane on February 10, 1903, and was taken to the asylum at Oshkosh, and at the present time is in the asylum for chronic insane at Eau Claire. This is shown by the records of the county.

It is now said that Smith shot himself during a fit of insanity.

On the morning that Smith committed suicide he and a man named Bergan, from this city, had gone out to Siskiwit lake for the purpose of looking over some land upon which it was thought that there was a mine. Shortly after the men arrived at the lake and just after the two had started out on their exploring trip Smith took his life.

It is now thought that Smith and the man were near the spot where the wealth was hidden and Smith, fearing that the money might be discovered before he could appropriate it secretly to his own use, became insane and took his life. The actions of Smith and Erickson were always mysterious in the extreme. There are a number of persons here that are so sure that the treasure is buried somewhere in the vicinity of the lake that a search for it will be made.

"TEDDY BEAR" FOR KAISER.

House of Hohenzollern and House of Roosevelt to Be Linked by Toy.

New York.—Henry Estricher, a wealthy importer of toys, will present the largest "Teddy bear" in the world to Emperor William. This Mr. Estricher, who sailed on the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria for Hamburg the other day, will forge a link in the chain of German-American friendship and bring closer the house of Hohenzollern and the house of Roosevelt.

Germany was the original habitat of the toy bear. Mr. Estricher read in a German newspaper that the emperor was greatly pleased that in honor of the president the toy had been called the "Teddy bear" in this country. He felt that the emperor would be delighted over the gift.

Mr. Estricher said that every arrangement had been made for his presentation of the bear to the emperor and for the presentation of the bear. The toy which he has sent ahead was made here. It is nine feet tall when it sits itself and its hide was woven from pure China silk. It was packed in a velvet-lined case.

JUNK MAN PUTS WIFE IN SHAFTS

SIGHT OF WOMAN HITCHED TO WAGON SHOCKS RESIDENTS OF EVANSTON, ILL.

TAKES PLACE OF DEAD HORSE

Frank Mulcaski Solves Dilemma by Harnessing Helpmeet to Vehicle—New "Steed" Needs Neither Hay Nor Oats.

Chicago.—Harnessing between the shafts of a wagon heavily laden with old iron, bottles and rags, Mrs. Frank Mulcaski, 55 years old, wife of an Evanston junk dealer, has taken up the task left off by the family horse at its death a few weeks ago.

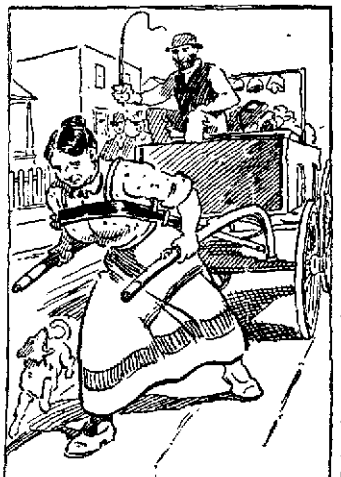

Supplied with especially fitted harness, she has made it possible for her husband, who pleads that he was too poor to replace the dead horse, to continue in business.

Daily she draws the wagon through the streets of Evanston and Wilmette and its suburban territory, responding with alacrity to her husband's cries of "whoa" and "giddyap." "Gee" and "haw" have been added to the vocabulary with which she is addressed, indignantly residents say. They are puzzled as to how to stop the spectacle.

Although Mrs. Mulcaski has been doing substitute duty for the horse for several weeks, general knowledge of the fact did not come to the residents of Evanston until the other day, when she appeared in one of the principal streets drawing the wagon, which was loaded half a ton of iron. Heretofore her efforts had been confined to the outskirts, where she astonished suburban residents and automobile parties.

During the journey through the downtown district of Evanston, her husband either walked near her or visited visited houses along the street in search of chance customers. He carried a whip which he formerly had employed in urging his horse along, but he was not seen to strike his wife with it.

Mulcaski's home is outside of the Evanston city limits. He occupies a tumbledown cottage, scantily furnished.

When the horse became ill and died Mulcaski was in a dilemma. Without his wagon to haul the junk he could purchase, he was unable to make a living, and he had no money with which to replace the dead horse. Then the thought of harnessing his wife to the wagon occurred to him.

Efforts to use the same harness with which the horse had drawn so many loads over roads which were almost impassable proved unsuccessful until it was cut down. Straps were fitted about the shoulders of Mrs. Mulcaski, who weighs nearly 200 pounds, and the experiment was undertaken. She found that she could draw the wagon, even if it contained a moderate load.

Mulcaski kept to the outskirts of the town at first with his novel "steed," but lately he has been venturing more closely to the center of the city. The result was the general protest against the woman being allowed to draw the wagon.

That Mulcaski is doing a prosperous business is evidenced by the size of the load of junk which was in his wagon. Bottles, iron and rags were heaped into the vehicle far above the top.

"Whoa!" the junk dealer called out on one occasion, when he darted around to the rear of a house where a customer was waiting.

The wife drew the wagon up to the curb, stopped and waited patiently until her husband appeared with a bundle of rags he had purchased.

At times Mulcaski was seen to consult with his wife concerning purchases he had made and routes to be taken. In addition, she was watchful for chance customers, pointing them out when her husband failed to notice them.

This was an advantage he did not enjoy when his horse was alive. Besides, he had to buy oats and hay, tie the animal up when he was to be absent for some time and even blanket it.

Some of those who have watched Mulcaski's movements assert that he does not always walk when his wife is drawing the wagon.

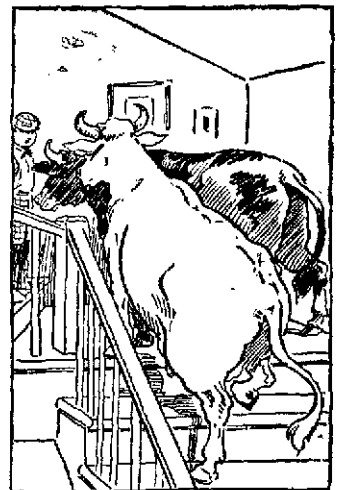

This, and many other stories, are told, the strange woman who has taken up the burden of the horse.

COWS PREFER PRIVATE HOUSE TO ABATTOIR

PAIR OF BOVINES, DESTINED FOR SLAUGHTER, AMBLE UPSTAIRS AT PATERSON, N. J.

New York.—An entire fire company, police reserves from one station, one cowman and many citizens with ropes figured in a ludicrous attempt to thwart the desire of two cows to occupy rooms at 552 Newark street, Paterson, N. J. The cows were of a herd which was driven into town from the vicinity of Secaucus.

The two mollies in question may have divined the fact that they were destined for a slaughter house, and unreasonably objected to being knocked on the head. So they ambled genially into the doorway of the Newark street house, and before the cowman could interfere, had climbed up to the first-story land.

Children on the upper floors were about to descend and hurry to school, but they couldn't get downstairs.

The cowman, in desperation, appealed to a fire company across the way, and for half an hour frantic efforts were made to get the cows down without hurting them. But they wouldn't budge.

Police headquarters was then rung up, and reserves were hurried to the scene. Again, for more than an hour, the tussle continued. But the cows wouldn't listen to reason, nor would they move when jabbed and pushed.

Finally some one suggested that the animals be blindfolded and led. The police wrapped blankets around the creatures' heads, and as they—the cows, not the police—were afraid to go home in the dark, they went with great docility down the stairs and joined the herd.

They won't climb any more stairways, excepting in a butcher boy's basket, and in small pieces.

CHILDREN SOUGHT THE FAIRIES.

Discovered, Blue with Cold, on Edge of Swamp, After Two Days.

Baltimore, Md.—For two days and nights bands of neighbors searched the countryside for Frank and Emily, the two-year-old son and the four-year-old daughter of a farmer, Frank Enala, who toddled away from home to find the fairies. And the fairies had almost waited them away from earth forever when a man found the two little ones lying snuggled closely and unconscious on the edge of a water-filled swamp, almost within a stone's throw of their home.

The search began at noon on a recent Thursday, and by Friday morning the parents had given up all hope, but they still searched, and all Friday night, too, through bushes, tramping the sunken swamp lands, calling the names of the two babies, all to no avail. Saturday, when all had given up hope and had joined the father and mother in lamenting the children, Harry Pielert, a trapper and fisherman, came upon them.

They lay with their arms around each other's necks. Emily's skirt was stretched across the bare legs of her little brother in a pathetic attempt to protect them from the icy water, and she had wrapped her small cotton waist about his neck so that he might not get "sore throat."

Both children still held little bouquets of arbutus in their hands. Pielert tucked them both under his arms, and hurried to the house, less than a quarter of a mile away.

Doctors revived them after hours of working, for both were nearly dead of starvation and the freezing cold of the two nights they had been lost.

Hen Lays Two Eggs Daily.

Waterbury, Conn.—Judge Fred M. Peasley of the city court has a white Plymouth Rock pullet which has laid two eggs a day for eight days. The judge didn't believe it until by the trap test he proved the hen a dual egg producer.

The only other hen here that ever laid two eggs in one day was owned by Charles Graham. The hen died of brain fever, induced by an almost superhuman knowledge of things about her.

She charmed a blacksnake into a dope-like stupor and killed it, first dragging out its forked tongue.

Large Canal Contracts Let.

Contracts already let for the work on the New York large canal amount to over $22,000,000.

WATER CUTS IMPORTANT FIGURE IN BASEBALL

Game Lost by Pittsburg as Result of a Flood—Cincinnati Field Twice Invaded.

The postponement record of the major leagues has been broken this spring on account of unprecedented rain and wet grounds. Perhaps never before have so many games been prevented as during this season, but there have been some that have been queerer.

A few years ago Pittsburg lost one of the oddest games on record on account of water. The game was played on a beautiful afternoon, but it happens that the Pittsburg grounds are situated just at the point where the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers flow together and form the Ohio. On this afternoon Pittsburg was playing Brooklyn and the rivers were all high. The Monongahela rose rapidly during the afternoon, forming a cross current and backing up the water of the Allegheny until it began to flood center field.

Inning by inning the outfielders were driven in closer and closer to the diamond as the flood invaded the ball park, until finally, in the ninth inning, a short fly ball to center field fell in two feet of water while the Pittsburg center fielder was diving and wading out toward it, and cost the game.

Cincinnati has twice had floods invade the grounds during the progress of games, but neither time has the water played any important part in the game, although one game was stopped in the seventh inning.

On that occasion the Ohio river had backed up around the grounds, but a dike had been built inside the fences to hold it back. The water had been rising steadily all afternoon and the workmen were striving desperately to build up earthworks and save the grounds.

Just at the end of the seventh inning a Chicago player, George Decker, hit a fly to left, and Burke, who was playing left, was waiting to catch the ball when the dike broke. Burke waited, caught the ball, and by that time the water, rushing in a tidal wave across the field, was above his ankles. He sprang hard, got ahead of the water and fled over dry ground. Two minutes later the greater part of the field was under water and the game was called.

Arthur Hofman, now the regular center fielder of the world's champions, once jumped a contract on account of a similar occurrence. Hofman then was playing with East St. Louis in the Trolley league, and he had a contract with the team whereby he was to receive eight dollars per game every time a game was scheduled, provided the game was not prevented by the weather.

One day East St. Louis was scheduled to play Belleville and the weather was perfect, the sun shining and the air warm. But the Mississippi river rose suddenly and flooded the grounds. Hofman demanded his eight dollars on the grounds that the weather did not prevent the game. The management refused to pay and Hofman jumped his contract and went to Aiton.

Barrett Let Out by Beaneaters.

Jimmy Barrett has been given his unconditional release by the Boston Americans. Barrett was a wonderful outfielder until he broke his leg in a game at Detroit. Since then he has lost much of his speed. He was drawing big money from the Boston club, and as there were young outfielders with the team drawing less and performing better, Manager McGuire decided to let Barrett go. Jimmy will have no trouble hooking up with a class A league team.

Brush After Pitcher Raymond.

It is said in baseball circles that John T. Brush, owner of the New York National league team, has made an offer of $8,000 to the St. Louis club for the release of Raymond, a pitcher. It is said the St. Louis nine intends to dispose of the services of some of its pitchers, and New York has put in an early offer to obtain Raymond, if the St. Louis management will permit him to go.

BASEBALL PLODDERS BETTER THAN STARS

Willing and Winning Players Are in More Demand by Managers of To-Day.

"The more I see of star ball players," said an old fan, "the better I like the plodders."

"There are two kinds of diamond artists, star ball players and winning ball players. Give me the latter any time. After a tough game is lost you usually hear the star ball player and his satellites, coming back from the grounds, singing at the tops of their voices."

"The winning ball player is sitting over in a corner without a word to say. As long as he gets his hits and fields cleanly, the star is satisfied. On the other hand, the plodder is out to win, and if his club is beaten then he wants to bite somebody's head off."

"On the field the plodder is working for every point and never over-looks a bet. All stars are not working for themselves alone, however. When you find a top-notch player who is out on the greenward working his legs off, then you will find a grand ball player, who is worth a lot of money to any team."

"Often you wonder why a player who has been doing good work, as far as batting and fielding averages are concerned, is traded or released to some other team. Few fans understand it, but the manager who lets him go does."

"Every winter one hears of many trades and the report gets out that this magnate and that one has been lunched. As a matter of fact, the chances are both have been handed something, for it is a pinch that no manager will let a player out unless there is something the matter with him."

"But you never hear of a winning ball player cut loose, even if his batting or fielding is not as brilliant as some others. He is the man every manager is looking for and once they land him they never let go until his usefulness has gone."

NOTES OF THE MINORS

Pitcher Albert of the South Bend Central league team shut out Wheeling the other day without a hit. The first of the season.

Geyer, the Columbus pitcher, is a strong entry in the hard-luck stakes. His team has not scored a run behind him in the last 25 innings in which he worked.

Larry Schlaefly, a former National, is playing sensational ball at second for the Toronto Eastern league team. Pitcher Joe Harris has been tinkered by Jim McGuire. He goes to the three-time American association champion Columbus club.

Terre Haute of the Central league has released Catcher Campbell and Infielders Shields and Eille. Campbell goes to Danville of the Eastern Illinois league.

The Louisville club has released Pitcher Willie Sudhoff and Catcher F. E. Holmes and has purchased Pitcher J. W. Durham from the Philadelphia Athletic club.

Cockney, the infielder turned over by Detroit to Williamsport, is simply eating 'em alive in the Tri-State. He is batting close to the .400 mark and fielding his position well.

Billy Phyle, the Toronto outfielder, rapped out two home runs and a double against Jersey City the other day, which makes him the most impressive slugger in the Eastern. He has now four circuit clouts to his credit. Hitting for ten sacks in an afternoon is stepping along.

Monte Cress Is Suspended.

President J. D. O'Brien of the American association suspended Monte Cress, manager of the Kansas City team, for three days for umpire baiting, and fined Outfielder Neighbors $25 for refusing to obey the umpire's instructions and unnecessarily delaying the game. Both offenses were committed at Kansas City on May 15 against Umpire Kane.
